

A B S T R A C T

5 A method of taking account of traffic processing capacity for the purpose of traffic load control in a mobile radio network, wherein account is taken of one or more limits in said processing capacity corresponding to one or more parameters representative of said traffic load.

1988-01-01 10:00:00